

Metro Lafayette a Welcome Addition

By Lee Borrowman

One of my favorite summer pleasures is dining al fresco. Lafayette, rapidly becoming Lamorinda's own "gourmet ghetto," is now home to the new Metro Lafayette; another perfect spot at which to indulge in culinary delights on a balmy summer evening. Owner Jack Moore and Chef Mark Lusardi both come with impressive credentials, and their experience is evident in every aspect of their newest venture.

The location at 3524 Mt. Diablo Blvd. has housed other restaurants in the past, and boasts a wonderful patio. What was I thinking bringing three children with me on my first visit to this potential summer home away from home? Well, to be totally honest, it was, "If I bring them all, I can taste more things!" And besides, if I'm going to write about it I should find out if it's kid-friendly; after all, families do occasionally need to eat at restaurants that don't have Play Places. We went early, shortly after 5:00 on a Friday night.

The interior, designed by Sheahan + Quandt of Berkeley, is simple and beautiful. It is far too elegant for me to be comfortable with the kids; another reason to head towards the patio. Casting a somewhat wistful glance at the well-stocked bars, both beverage and raw, I herded my entourage outside to a table that was as out of the way as possible. The sturdy wooden table was large enough to accommodate all of us with our place settings, beverages and shared appetizers and not risk glasses careening over the edge, and tables are set far enough apart so that each group has a modicum of privacy and you don't have to squeeze between other diners just to reach your chair. and heaters provide additional comfort when needed. At 5:30, there was one other family dining nearby but most of the guests were of the adult variety and the venue filled up as the evening wore on.

Our server, Whitney, did not flinch at the sight of a lone mom clearly outnumbered by the shorter set. She was friendly, knowledgeable and efficient, laughed at our jokes, and gave us just the right amount of attention. Much to our delight, Moore came over and chatted with us briefly, acknowledging his own status as a local parent of school-aged children and offering my kids and their friend a lesson on the appropriate use of a butter knife.

Service was attentive and non-intrusive.

It would not be fair or professional for anyone to review a restaurant after only one visit, but I can't resist a few words about the food. We began our meal with a sublime oyster sampler from the raw bar, which was beautifully iced and presented, a Caesar salad and a pair of Peekytoe crab cakes; the crab cakes in particular had a lovely fresh flavor and texture. Moving on to the entrees, the Misoyaki Black Cod with scallion rice cake, tempura mushrooms and living cress with ponzu, one of Lusardi's signature dishes, was very well executed. The black cod had the anticipated sweet crust on the outside and melted in the mouth. The kids devoured a Niman Ranch burger, Croque Monsieur and Niman Ranch dry-aged New York steak without complaint. I was allowed tastes of the steak and the smoky, salty open-faced sandwich and found both satisfactory; the burger disappeared from its plate before I could even reach for it. All three were served with a generous portion of crisp, nicely cut skin-on French fries. Although not on the menu, plain pasta is also available for the youngest crowd.

If you're unsure which wine to select from the interesting list, don't hesitate to ask. Moore, a master sommelier candidate, is happy to make a recommendation. The Sylvaner he sent over paired exquisitely with the black cod, and he paid us a return visit to make sure all was well. Finally, when you go, don't skip dessert. A Meyer lemon cheesecake with to-die-for lemon curd, a not-too-sweet peach-apricot-almond crisp with vanilla gelato and a cornmeal cake with fresh berries all graced our table and the subsequent sighs of delight postponed the inevitable ice cube fight until we were nearly ready to depart.

Pork Ribs on the grill – The Advanced Class

By Dan Leff

Every summer, plenty of people cook pork ribs on the grill. And at the end of each summer, an undetermined number of people walk away from their grills thinking, "Those ribs came out dry and tough. Next time I'll just go to the local BBQ joint!" Rest easy, there is a way to cook pork ribs on the grill and have them come out tender and juicy.

Please note that this recipe does NOT feature precise, scientific quantities and measurements. Your eyes and instincts will serve as the best judges here.

Smoke-braised pork ribs

Ingredients:

- 1 rack of pork ribs
- Orange Juice
- Soy Sauce
- Chicken Stock
- Good quality hardwood charcoal (Lazzari's is the best)
- Wood chips for smoking

Equipment:

- A large (kettle-type) barbecue grill (that little "Smoky Joe" won't work)
- A 2"-3" deep aluminum half-pan (the kind used for small roasts – don't use the long pans)
- A long, heavy-duty grill spatula
- A long, sturdy pair of metal tongs
- An oven mitt

To prepare:

1. Place the wood chips in a large bowl. Cover with the liquid of your choice; water's fine, but apple cider mixed with Calvados will give you the best flavor to your ribs, in the end.
2. Put the ribs in a large bowl. Cover them with a mixture of Orange Juice, Soy Sauce and Chicken stock. For more interesting and complex flavor, put in 1-2 cloves of Star Anise, 3-4 dried chilies or some garlic cloves. Let the ribs marinate for about 1 hour (at room temperature) or 2-4 hours under refrigeration.
3. Start the coals on the outdoor grill. This recipe does require a medium-large amount of charcoal. Starting the coals by using a chimney-type lighter is preferable to dousing them with lighter fluid. The coals will be ready to use when they are almost all white.
4. When the coals are ready, drain off the liquid from the smoking chips. Keep the smoking chips handy and ready-to-go for the next couple of steps.
5. Remove the pork ribs from the marinade to a plate or other vessel. Keep the marinade handy, you'll need to use it fast in the step below...

6. WORKING QUICKLY AND CAREFULLY put on that oven mitt and divide the hot coals into 2 equal piles pushed to the sides of the grill bottom. There should be just enough room for that aluminum half pan.

Put the half pan into that space, and immediately pour in the marinade.

DON'T POUR IN THE MARINADE ALL THE WAY TO THE TOP – leave about 1" of space. Put the ribs into the pan with the marinade, immediately.

7. Have the lid to the grill handy. Sprinkle the soaked/drained smoking chips onto the hot coals. Immediately cover the grill with the lid. Have ALL the air vents (on the bottom of the grill, and in the lid) WIDE OPEN.

8. The ribs will braise in the marinating liquid and absorb the smoky flavor of the wood chips. Add more marinade to the pan as it evaporates. The ribs will take about 1 to 1-1/2 hours to cook. When they are done, they will be very tender and have an amazing taste! Remove them carefully with the long tongs when they are ready.
