Summer is Nearly Upon Us ... Are you Ready?

With the official start of summer just one month away, and school almost over, there's only one question to ask: Are you ready? Signing up your child for a summer camp is a great opportunity for you to not only get them from behind a computer screen or off of your couch, but out trying something new or building new friendships. Fortunately, there is still time to sign up for some fantastic local programs and the following list of 55 camps – from Shakespeare to skateboarding, rowing to horseback riding – will help you get started.
