Outpouring of support for Moraga CVS accident victim

By Sara O’Doherty

Inga Olsen, a resident of Moraga for 34 years, went to her local CVS on July 18. Olsen was pinned beneath the front door and the register. Her political allies have called it a personal attack.

The only thing she can’t remember about the accident is the face of the couple she was serving at the time. She jumped over the counter and into the store. But she does remember noticing that she had left their receipt in her hand. When she was told to just toss it, she exclaimed, “But they might have composted!” That is perhaps the closest she has come to experiencing anything she can recall of the accident.

Total Clean

Congratulations Eva Garcia

21 Years of Dedicated Service

Building Foundations

Lifting

Foundations

• Stabilizing

Tree Care Complete

Proudly serving the East Bay since 1965!

www.recyclesmart.org

• Reduced cost compost bins
• Free garage sale
• Vermicomposting & Bin Building Workshops (Worms!)
• CompostSMART Advanced Training Series

Letters to the editor

Seeking higher sustainability priorities

I am a Bay Scout for Oyinda Adara, who is a long-time member of the local Boy Scouts of America in the Moraga-Orinda area. She is emerging as a leader in the green movement.

I believe that the Boy Scouts of America, as one of the largest youth organizations in the world, has a unique opportunity to lead the way on sustainability.

The Boy Scouts of America has a long history of promoting environmental stewardship, and I believe that they can do even more.

I am writing to ask the Boy Scouts of America to consider adopting a new sustainability policy that would provide even more opportunities for young people to get involved in environmental issues.

I encourage the Boy Scouts of America to consider this request and to lead the way in promoting sustainability among young people.

I am a student at the University of California, Berkeley, and I am passionate about sustainability and the environment.

I am looking forward to hearing from you about this issue.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]